Excerpt from The Death Trust: A Novel She had dawned upon fashionable world of New Orleans with a splendor that made her at once the envy of half a score of ambitious belles, and the despair of as many designing mothers, who had planned for their eligible daughters the very success Evelyn had made, with no apparent effort on her own part, ere the season was at its height. She was dark, almost, as a Creole; and beneath the velvet smoothness of her cheeks, the warm Southern blood surged, usually tingeing them with that rich but dainty hue of red we oftentimes see in mother-of-pearl, but at times firing them up to the hottest glow of scarlet.
